Executive Data Science

Four intensive courses that prepare participants to begin assembling and leading a data science enterprise. 1. A high level introduction to the field of data science to prepare leaders for their role. 2. A framework required to recruit, evaluate, and develop a team with complementary skill sets and roles. 3. The structure of the data science pipeline, the goals of each stage, and strategies to keep the team on target throughout. 4. Practical skills to prepare learners for common challenges that can derail data science projects.
